

United Lutherans Hear President's Reminder Of Nazi Persecution

Lutherans of America were asked by President Roosevelt to "remember your co-religionists who have been the victims of such a cruel persecution in Germany," in a letter read last night at the Church of the Reformation, 212 East Capitol street, commemorating the 25th anniversary of the formation of the United Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick H. Knobel, president, and E. Lawrence Miller, treasurer of the united church since its formation, were present. The church was crowded and the study hall downstairs was filled with a second audience which heard the talks over a public address system.

History Outlined.

"It is interesting to note," President Roosevelt wrote, "that the United Lutheran Church is a merger of three former groups of Lutherans in this country, the oldest dating back to the year 1619, when the first Lutherans came to America. Through all the generations since that faraway year Lutherans have borne an honorable part in American life. Now, happily, three once-separate bodies are united in one strong body to make common cause against the forces of irreligion and materialism.

"In this solemn service of commemoration, you will remember, also, your co-religionists who have been the victims of such a cruel persecution in Germany. From the bitter experience of oppressed Christians in other lands, we shall learn a deeper appreciation of the blessings of civil and religious liberty which is ours through the wisdom and foresight of the fathers of the Constitution."

Lectures Planned.

Dr. Walton H. Grever of New York, secretary of the united church, announced the establishment of a lecture foundation for Lutheran theological schools named for Dr. Knobel and Mr. Miller.

Dr. Paul E. Scherer, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, New York, preached the sermon. He said the anniversary had been observed during the day in more than 4,000 United Lutheran Churches throughout the United States.

The Rev. F. Eppling Reinartz was liturgist. The Rev. Dr. Gerhard E. Lenski, president of the Washington Lutheran Ministerial Association, greeted the guests. The Rev. Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder, pastor of the church, was host.

Cosmos Club to Observe Anniversary at Dinner

The 65th anniversary of the Cosmos Club will be celebrated with a dinner at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the historic clubhouse on Madison place N.W.

With Robert Lincoln O'Brien as toastmaster, the program will feature a discussion of the past, present and future by three of the members. "The Club's Contribution to the War" will be the topic of Dr. Waldo G. Leland, director of the American Council of Learned Societies, who has been assigned to speak on the present. Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, a past president of the club, will review its history, and Dr. Henry Grattan Doyle, director of the Inter-American Training Center of the Library of Congress, will discuss the future.

The dinner will be opened by the club president, John E. Graf, associate director of the National Museum.

Past presidents attending will be presented by the toastmaster. Because the club's dining room can't seat all requesting reservations, a loud speaker will be set up in the main lounge to carry the program.

8,000 Smiths in Marines

Since November 10, 1775, the birth of the United States Marine Corps, over 8,000 Smiths have enlisted. Close to 5,000 Smiths are serving in the United States Marine Corps today. Over 100 Smiths have been casualties in this war to date.
